Customer Challenge

With 14,000 students and two campus locations, Henry Ford College was ready for an upgrade. They were looking to replace the college’s entire equipment fleet and they had key factors to consider including machine quality, price, service, response times, and overall customer service approach. They were looking for a partner who would work with their existing provider, assess the best machine for each location, remove the old equipment and install the new, and train their teams.

Applied Solutions

In a two-week period, Applied Innovation replaced and upgraded 52 pieces of equipment including multifunction printers (MFPs), desktop printers, and production machines. Applied’s experts hosted training sessions with each department to provide a seamless transition. The new fleet was integrated with the college’s existing technology infrastructure and offered advanced features allowing for more effective security settings.
