Customer Challenge

The Tampa Bay Buccaneers needed a provider that would understand their fast-paced environment on and off the field, not just during the season, but throughout the year. They have 200+ employees who count on their office technology being fast and reliable. In addition, amazing service was a must-have to support their multiple locations and to work directly with their IT professionals. Starting with the NFL draft, into weeks of training camps, pre-season games, and throughout the regular season and playoffs, the Buccaneers were looking for a technology partner for the win.

“Applied Innovation continues to be in the top tier of our preferred partners in response time and providing a quality product and stellar customer service. And that’s what we look for... It’s a high energy environment, and we need a quick response... Applied Innovation continues to show that we made a great decision in bringing them on as a partner.”
